Quote of the Day

A pessimist sees only the dark side of the clouds, and moopes; a philosopher sees both sides, and shrugs; an optimist doesn't see the clouds at all - he's walking on them.

WORKING SMARTER, NOT WORKING HARDER

Posted Sat, 2009-10-21 04:38 by monikadear

As green business women, most of us are here to make money doing things we love- and we help our planet at the same time.

I think this is a good thing.

I think many women in business are here to support the causes and concerns we care most about, and we are able to use our abilities, skills, shared knowledge, and pool of talent to:

- 1) Show up
- 2) Take responsibility
- 3) Offer better choices
- 4) Live our passion
- 5) Share our skills, products, and services with the green marketplace

Given the chance to purchase from a green provider as opposed to a "non-green" provider, most of our client base (the LOHAS customers) wants to purchase from the green provider. It's that simple.

However, in commercial endeavors, the cold and stark reality is that "55 percent of new employer establishments born to new firms in 2000 survived at least two years, and 33 percent survived five or more years." (U. S. Small Business Administration, 2006)

Basically, the odds are 50-50 that your company will still be around five years from now.

That said, your company and my company deserve to feel strong and proud about driving the American economy. From the Small Biz Administration:
